2 British Papers Back Hearst Plan

English Publications Support Move For Congress to Humanize War

Special Cable to the Boston American
LONDON, Feb. 12—Two of the world's leading liberal newspapers, the Manchester Guardian and the London News-Chronicle, have given support to William Randolph Hearst's suggestion that a congress of nations be summoned to humanize war.

The Manchester Guardian, read by thousands of distinguished subscribers throughout the world, is printed on its main foreign news page Mr. Hearst's editorial calling for the international conference to end the murder of civilians in war.

The reproduced editorial was prominently displayed under the caption:

"New war beds."
"Mr. Hearst suggests a Congress."

EFFECTS WELCOMED
The News-Chronicle, one of the largest and most influential of British newspapers and which is often the mirror of the British liberal party's policies, published an editorial welcoming Mr. Hearst's efforts. Following a page one die play yesterday of the text of Mr. Hearst's recommendations, the editorial declared:

"In an uneasy world we can take courage these last few days from the way things are going. The scales, weighted so heavily against the democracies, of late

Paris Minister Lauds 'Humane' War Drive

Cesar Campinchi, minister of justice in the French government and an outstanding jurist and parliamentarian, in the following statement commends the full support of William Randolph Hearst's proposal for a world congress to abolish wholesale slaughter of civilians in war.

By CESAR CAMPINCHI
Minister of Justice
PARIS, Feb. 12—As former minister of the navy, I consider Mr. Hearst's initiative worthy of the utmost respect.

As the present crisis of justice, I consider this to be one of the most meritorious, fair and humane actions of which I have heard.

I fully appreciate Mr. Hearst's motive. It is obviously of paramount importance to protect women and children from the barbarities of war. War is for men.

WORLD WAR VETERAN
I fought for four years in the World War and I am ready to fight again for my country if necessary. I agree with Mr. Hearst that the

House Joins War Drive

On War Barbarity

Special to the Boston American
WASHINGTON, Feb. 12—Vigorous support developed today among influential House members for an international curb on barbarous warfare.

Outstanding House leaders went on record endorsing the proposal by William Randolph Hearst, in a recent editorial, that the nations of the world formulate rules prohibiting inhuman methods of waging war, particularly with respect to non-combatants, women, men and children.

Representative Samuel D. McReynolds, of Tennessee, chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, who was a member of the American delegation to the London Economic Conference of 1919, said:

"I certainly agree with that part of Mr. Hearst's article which advocates a new code of warfare with respect to non-combatants, including women and babies, in most outrageous and a severe stroke at our present civilization."

"I believe that bringing these questions to public attention at this time is a public service."

BACKS HEARST PLAN
Major Ralph W. Beckett, chairman of the Massachusetts Patriotic and National Guard of the Legion of Valor, declared:

"As national commander of the Legion of Valor, I heartily endorse Mr. Hearst's suggestion for an international conference to outlaw the mass murder of non-combatants."

"I agree in toto with Mr. Hearst that non-combatants and helpless men, women and children, and now and humane rules of warfare adopted by the civilized nations."

STOP SLAUGHTER OF INNOCENTS!

This Could Have Been a Boston Department Store--In Shanghai Aerial Bombs Killed Hundreds. If It Had Been Boston, Thousands Would Have Died

This picture of terror and destruction, taken shortly after Chinese aviators had bombed the Wing On and Sincere & Co. department stores in Shanghai, shows frantic survivors removing some of the 200 bodies and countless wounded victims from the desolate scene. The horror of this terrible barbarism becomes more intense with the realization that these two large department stores, located in the "Boston Down Town" of the Chinese metropolis, were ruthlessly blown to pieces while thousands of helpless and innocent non-combatants were going peacefully about their business. Many defenseless women and children were among the victims. Foreigners as well as natives suffered from the flaming terror hurled from the skies.

Hearst's Plan 'Ideal,' Says British Pacifist

British pacifist, George Lansbury, member of Parliament and former chief of the Labour party, in a recent editorial, has expressed his hearty approval of Mr. Hearst's suggestion to call a world conference to humanize war. Mr. Lansbury, in the following article, interviewed by Hearst, said:

By GEORGE LANSBURY
Member of Parliament and former chief of Britain's Labour Party.

LONDON, Feb. 12—I am a pacifist. I do not believe that as long as warfare exists we can completely humanize it.

"I live in a section of London where, should we go to war, we are bound to be bombed."

"I agree also with the move in the United States to form a congress of nations to formulate laws for prevention of war."

"I am sure that the nations of the world would really be light in saying they have already forwarded such a scheme and I regret to say it was British through Lord Lothian."

New England Joins Defense Week Observances

Programs Aimed to Back Plans of President

With a plan to the people to support President Roosevelt's proposed defense program, National Defense Week was inaugurated throughout America today.

Beginning, significantly enough, on the anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln and ending on George Washington's Birthday, February 22, the 10 days will be devoted to showing the people the necessity for strengthening national defenses.

With the people and New England will play their usual prominent part in the festivities which started four years ago under the leadership of the Reserve Officers Association of the United States.

Citing the need for concerted action by the public to assure adequate national defense for the country, local officers of the Reserve Officers Association today pointed to army statistics revealing that only 400 men comprise the combat troops in New England, less than three times the size of the Boston police department.

NEWSAPERS TO AID
During the 10-day period, newspapers, theaters, schools and clubs will aid in presenting the vital functions of the army, navy and air force in time of peace as well as in war.

Activities in Greater Boston open tonight with a military ball at Hotel Kenmore, which is open to the public.

During the week special speakers will address children in 21 schools and give radio talks.

A mass meeting of military organizations at the University Club, February 21, will end the observance here. Brigadier-General David H. Neesham of the National Guard, former head of the police, will be the principal speaker. Senators William Lodge, Jr., and David I. Walsh have been invited.

Emphasis on the importance of adequate national defenses given was expressed today by Lieutenant Colonel William H. Brown of the Motor Infantry Chapter of the Reserve Officers Association.

"Every citizen should know the value of national defense," he said. "One of the main problems facing the citizens of the United States is the lack of an adequate national defense program."

HIGHER NAVY SIGHT
Already President Roosevelt has called for appropriations of $100,000,000 to enlarge the navy. "The United States will have adequate navy as far as coasts are concerned."

We still lack, however, in our navy, a fleet of battleships, authorized under the National Defense Act of 1916.

"Congress should be urged to pass legislation that would set up our standing army to its full complement. It is the purpose of our organization to bring the citizens with the absolute needs of our army and navy."

The Reserve Officers Association is not affiliated with any of the three armed branches of the United States but consists of 15,000 members of the reserve corps of the defense strength of the country to adequacy.

The members are unpaid, holding commissions in the reserve corps of the army, navy and air force.

Psychology Tests For Thrill Movies

Thrill movies like "Broken Lullaby," "High Wide and Handsome," "The Great Escape," will be subjected to laboratory psychology tests by the presence at a public meeting of the Adult Education Council of Greater Boston, Monday night.

The meeting will be held in the auditorium of the Boston Public Library, starting at 8 o'clock. Dean Howard M. Lefford of the Boston University Graduate School will discuss the value of character development in the three pictures.

Mother, Daughter Saved From Fumes

PITTSFIELD, Feb. 12—A young mother and her four-month-old daughter were reported recovering today from near suffocation by the timely arrival home of Raymond Matteson, the husband.

The mother and child were found in a kitchen gas jet on, and his wife and baby unconscious. The mother had been suffocated by the fumes, causing the near tragedy.

McReynolds for War Code Plan

By SAMUEL D. McREYNOLDS
Tennessee Representative
Chairman, House Foreign Affairs Committee

Written expressly for the Boston American

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12—I certainly agree with that part of Mr. Hearst's article in which he advocates a new code of warfare with respect to non-combatants, including women and babies, in most outrageous and a severe stroke at our present civilization.

The history of air bombardment inflicted upon non-combatants and dum dum bullets and other similar restrictions can be traced on our country's military history of warfare, as pointed out by Mr. Hearst, it would be an effective stroke in the right direction.

Some restrictions have been placed on the use of poisonous gases and dum dum bullets and other similar restrictions can be traced on our country's military history of warfare, as pointed out by Mr. Hearst, it would be an effective stroke in the right direction.

Under present conditions through the world, I am sure it is not too far off to expect to get some of the war-torn nations to agree to such a proposal. But it certainly is worthy of serious consideration.

Dartmouth Queen, 17, Blonde Beauty

Poise Wins Judges;
Bears Smokes, Drinks;
Has No Romance

HANOVER, N. H., Feb. 12.—Sweetness personifies Katherine Avila Brooks, Dartmouth winter Carnival Snow Queen.

Unspoiled and unspoiled, the 17-year-old Tux, Oklahoma, beauty, reigned amidst epiphany today over the best of 250 girls who have invaded the scenic surroundings of Hanover to attend the 25th Winter Carnival.

Locks of golden hair, deep blue eyes, a classical nose, with a perfect figure describe the new queen. She doesn't smoke, she doesn't drink and at present has no romantic interest—but does admit that her escort, Cleve Spillers, Dartmouth junior and Tulsa product, is a fine fellow.

REACHES FOR COOKIE

"I have no romantic interests," she shyly admitted, "but I think Dartmouth boys are grand. They're such fine company that one couldn't help but like them."

Then she graciously accepted a chocolate cookie in place of the numerous cigarettes being offered to her by the many boys in her presence.

Even the court of 18 girls who competed for the honor admitted "She's awfully cute."

Her court of waiting consists of the Misses Ann Hopkins of Hanover, daughter of the college's president and former queen; Mary O'Connell of Newport, R. I.; Jane M. Phillips of Cincinnati; "Tony" Treadway of Williamstown, Mass.; Jean DeForest of New York City; Barbara Quinn of Princeton, N. J.; Anne Eisenman of New York.

Also the Spinners of Wilmot, Ill.; Janet Ferguson of Upper Montclair, N. J.; Elna Limbrum of Jackson Heights, N. Y.; Ann McKinlay of New York; Peggy Herenthal of Milton, Mass.; Anne Layton of Lakeland, Fla.; Barbara Sellers of Andover, Mass.; Edith Chase of Milton, Mass.; and Mrs. Pat Gorman of New York.

The Queen has dramatic aspirations, which she is furthering at present at the Arlington Hall, in Washington, D. C., where she confessed that she had played the leading role in the class play last month.

Her hobbies are many—but dancing is the top. Swimming, tennis and piano playing—but not before a crowd—also rank among her favorite pastimes.

Avila is a native of Meriden, Conn., later lived in North Carolina and now is a full fledged Tuxan, where

Death on Tracks Laid to Deafness

Partial defense and a ringing explanation of the accidental death of Miss Catherine R. Norton, 28, of Beach street, Revere, caused her death by a Boston & Maine train in Revere.

The girl, a student at Salem Normal School, was believed to be crossing the tracks when the unbraked train ran over her.

Identification was made only through a fragment of clothing and teeth, which recently had been treated by a Somerset dentist.

Hunt 2 Suspects In Arson Plot

GLoucester, Feb. 12.—Two suspects were sought today in an alleged arson plot which destroyed the Fallon House annex of the Hawthorne Inn and market at 201 Washington street, caused two deaths and other buildings for destruction.

Prompt discovery of incendiary devices by Mary Wright, 19, Gloucester high school senior, prevented a general conflagration.

Investigators found burning candles linked to fire-globes, barrels of alcohol. Police disclosed today that one suspect is a man who recently bought from a local hardware dealer a number of wooden buckets similar to those found at the scene.

Another suspect is a former employee of the hotel, police said.

2 Die as Autos Crash in Storm

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12 (AP)—Winter's first belated onslaught on the Washington area caused two deaths. A man and a woman were killed when two automobiles, their drivers unable to see through a driving snow, crashed into each other on the highway. The victims were Mrs. Elizabeth M. Brown, 35, wife of a Department of Agriculture employee, and Fredrick M. Ambrose, 46.

Dowd Threatens To Cut Nurses Off Budget

Coercion Is Charged
In a Petition for
Miss Logan

The controversy between the Boston City Hospital trustees and City Councilor John F. Dowd over the appointment of Miss Laura E. Logan, superintendent of nurses, took a new turn today when Dowd threatened to have the appropriation for Miss Logan and her seven assistants stricken from the city budget.

Dowd threatened to force Miss Logan's removal. Dowd, chairman against the trustees, who have unanimously refused to cut her, by charging "they are either not informed or deliberately lying" in claiming they cannot get a suitable superintendent from among the hospital graduates.

Dowd further charged that hospital nurses were being coerced into signing a petition for retention of Miss Logan, and demanded that the James W. Mahoney superintendent of the hospital, halt circulation of the petition.

"I have just been advised that two of the assistant superintendents of nurses are going through the hospital compelling student nurses, who are merely young girls to sign a petition, they are in favor of retaining Miss Logan," Dowd said.

"This is being done through threats and I demand that this practice be stopped immediately. This, to my mind, is the lowest form of bribery."

Mayor Tully declined comment on the controversy until he receives the trustees' report on Dowd's original charges against Miss Logan.

Jury Deliberates Wright's Fate

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 12.—The fate of Paul A. Wright, charged with killing his wife and "her friend," was still in the hands of the jury today after deliberations until late into the night had failed to result in a verdict.

The state sought a surprise by closing the argument without asking for the death penalty.

Superior Court Judge Regal W. Hall informed the jury, however, that if 10 possible verdict returns, they were could find Wright guilty of first degree murder without recommendation of mercy—which would make a death sentence mandatory.

The prosecution lacked Wright bitterly in his final argument. "Wright is an individual who put himself above everybody else," he said. "He acted as the law, judge and jury in his acts. He considered the reputation of two people who have gone away forever—who could not be here to defend themselves."

Wright claimed he slew his wife and friend in an embrace. The trial has been on five weeks.

3 Youths Seized With Chemical For Holdups

Planned to Daze Their Victims; Stolen Car
Dives Over Cliff

PITTSFIELD, Feb. 12.—Three youths, whom police charged carried chemicals intended to put holdup victims to sleep, were arrested today after their car plunged 100 feet over a cliff on Route 28, a half-mile east of the Lebanon, N. T. — Hanover, N. H.

The bursting of the car over the cliff, state police at the barracks here stated, climaxed a "crime career" that started in Framingham last night and extended across the entire state.

Corporal John Dwyer of the New York state police, who was standing in the New York side of the state line, turned the trio over to State Trooper Francis Brothers of the Pittsfield barracks when the vehicle climbed back to the road from the wreckage.

They gave their names as Frank Herewick, 19, Framingham; Robert Swenson, 18, and Harold E. Billings, 18, both of Sherborn. According to police, Swenson's occupation was listed as a chemist.

FIND CHEMICALS

The arrest of the youths at a search of the youths' pockets revealed three vials of a "mystery" chemical. The state trooper, quoted Swenson as saying that the dropping of a small amount of the chemical at the feet of victims would render them ill and unconscious.

The seized chemicals were dispatched to state police headquarters at Commonwealth Pier, Boston, for examination by State Chemist Ralph T. Walker.

Police charged the trio started by stealing a car in Framingham, then their car was driven to the Virgil Ables outside an Irving street garage.

ARMED THEFT CHARGED

En route to the state line, according to police, the youths found a car in the state line, a filling station proprietor, told them their car was stolen. The youths declared, according to police, that the youths were armed.

Police maintained the accident occurred near the state line when, from a machine in the machine went out of control.

Charged with armed robbery and possession of a dangerous weapon, the youths will be taken to the state police house in Brockfield and then in Worcester.

Auto Drivers Must Beware

7 to 8 P. M. Saturdays
Extra Dangerous

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12 (AP)—If you're an automobile driver, especially on Saturday evenings between 7 and 8 o'clock, it is the auto's "most dangerous" time. This is according to a study made in a report of a highway traffic and accident survey.

The survey, which was made at June Lake, Mont. County, 60 miles north of Bluff, revealed drivers are involved in about 91 per cent of fatal accidents.

About 56 per cent of the fatal accidents are collisions with pedestrians. A masculine driver is more likely to collide with a pedestrian than a feminine driver, but that the latter is more likely to collide with another car.

Car drivers are more likely to have accidents than those who are not drivers.

any German action against him. Secondly, he wanted to know to what extent Schuschnigg is willing to compromise on Nazi participation in the Austrian Government.

Finally, he wished to sound out the chancellor on the extent of Austrian commitments to other powers, in central Europe and determine what paths are open for Austro-German collaboration.

FACT MISSES FIRE

One of the immediate problems in Austro-German relations is the part of friendship signed on July 11. It has been functioning badly. In fact, it is in fact that Hitler is willing to have the friendship treaty nullified unless Schuschnigg roundly makes it workable.

It was last night that Schuschnigg and Mussolini conferred by telephone. It was understood that Duce dissuaded the Austrian chancellor from plans to summon a special cabinet and court all Nazi elements. At the same time, Mussolini was believed to have dissuaded Hitler from salvaging the July agreement and providing an open conflict on the Austrian question.

The meeting came as a tremendous surprise to all of Europe. At least at 2 p. m. it is a matter of official circles that Schuschnigg is laughing it off as "just another bluff" and admitting to no serious change in his attitude.

General belief was that Schuschnigg would not compromise on dropping all plans for a Hapsburg restoration. If Hitler abandons Nazi terrorism in Austria, Schuschnigg in this connection, it was re-

Frances Weeks Becomes Bride
In Newton Ceremony

By BETTY ALDEN

SCREENED FROM the curious proletriat and the prying eyes of the press by tall shrubbery and the seclusion of her grandmother Dow's spacious estate on West Newton hill, Frances Weeks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sinclair Weeks, became the bride of Roger Haydock Halliwell on today.

Considering the fact that the bride's father, though a socialite and prominent business man, is also a politician, everyone was a bit surprised at the extreme privacy with which the affair was conducted.

Rev. Herbert Hitchens of First Unitarian Church in West Newton performed the ceremony and a reception for the families of the bride couple and their intimate friends followed.

Being married in the Dow mansion seems to be a family tradition, for Mr. and Mrs. Weeks (Beatrice Dow) were married there in 1912 and several other members of the family have exchanged their marriage vows in its stately drawing room.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. William R. Dowse and her paternal grandparents were the late John Weeks, former Secretary of War, and Mrs. Weeks.

When the bride couple return from a wedding trip they will make their home in Milton. The bride is a graduate of the Winsor School and a member of the Vincent Club. She made her debut at a dance at her grandmother's home in the season of 1934-35.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. John W. Halliwell of Milton and the late Mr. Halliwell. He is a graduate of Harvard with the class of 1933 and a brother of Mr. Howard Lapsley, and the Messrs. John W. William L., and Phillips Halliwell.

Engaged Couple Honored

DR. AND MRS. RICHARD THOMPSON of Exeter street are giving a cocktail party this afternoon in honor of Catherine Brown and Francis R. Burke, Jr., whose engagement was announced last evening.

Mrs. Brown is the daughter of Mrs. Walter Atkins Brown of Brookline and the late Mr. Brown. She attended the May School and Miss Porter's in Farmington, Connecticut, and was presented to society in the season of 1929-30. She is a member of the Junior League.

Mr. Burke, the son of Dr. F. Ramon Burke of Quincy and the late Mrs. Burke (Jane Childs Reed), prepared for college at Milton Academy and graduated from Harvard in 1930. He also graduated from Harvard business school and is now associated with United Shipyards in New York. He belongs to the Harvard Club of New York and Boston. The wedding will take place in the spring.

Boll to Benefit Faulkner Hospital

MARTHA CHAPIN is emerging from her apprenticeship... for she is planning to give a charity ball to benefit the Faulkner Hospital. During the last few years Martha has had a wide experience assisting her mother, Mrs. John R. Chapin of Boston, who has managed some of the largest and most enjoyable charity affairs in town.

Naturally, in her first venture, Martha wants to keep the family reputation for successful parties intact, so she has recruited the aid of a gift edged set of assistants to help her plan the affair.

The party will be held on Tuesday evening, March 1, in the Princess Ballroom of the Hotel Somerset. Among the post boys and young marrieds on the committee, which has obtained Ruby Newman's orchestra to play for dancing, are Margaret Burr, Mrs. Richard Dwyer (Betty Sayen), Margaret Macomber, Constance Matlack, Marian L. Minot, Mrs. Hamilton Richards (Edith Lewis), Anne Soule, Mrs. Richard P. Waters, Jr. (Joan Chapin), and Virginia Gould.

Rosamond Hamlin, debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. Nason Hamlin, has cancelled plans for her debut dance on February 18, due to the death this week of her grandfather, General Francis Peabody.

Mrs. Barrett Wendell, wrapped in luxurious beaver from tip to toe, was one of the music lovers enthralled at yesterday afternoon's concert at Symphony Hall, presented by the Philadelphia Orchestra. Eugene Ormandy conducted the orchestra.

Mrs. Harrison Reynolds was another fashionable member of the audience as were Mrs. Talbot Baker, whose black costume was trimmed with mink; Mrs. Robert Stevenson, Anne Hutchins, Lucetta Brooks, Elton Fay, who has chosen April 23 as the date for her marriage to Irvin Garfield, Jr.; also Mr. and Mrs. Edward Tarr, Mrs. Russell Macauland, Mrs. Carl Gilbert and Mary Gray, a debutante of the present season.

Rodcliffe Alumnae Sponsors Recital

PROMINENT RODCLIFFE ALUMNAE of Greater Boston are doing their bit to spread the news of the forthcoming benefit recital by Ted Shaw, which the Rodcliffe Club of Boston is sponsoring on the evening of March 11 in John Hancock Hall.

Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Henry Adams Morris of Charlestown East will be hostess at tea for members of the benefit committee and other loyal Rodcliffe graduates who are coming the suburbs for dance and music lovers to subscribe to the recital. Among her guests will be Mrs. Conrad Westcott, Mrs. Herbert Hooper, Mrs. Robert F. Fiske and her sister, Mrs. Elting E. Morison, daughters of the late Admiral William S. Sims; Mrs. Roderick Stebbins, Mrs. D. Abbott Ames, Mrs. Henry H. Suckney, Mrs. Thomas R. Morse and Mrs. Carl J. Gilbert.

Special guests will be the two Rodcliffe students who have won the club's regional scholarship awards, the Misses Katherine Warren of New York and Ruth Grover of Cleveland. Proceeds from the Ted Shaw recital will be applied to another scholarship for the outstanding regional student in the present sophomore class.

Mrs. Frederick H. Norton, wife of Professor Norton of the ceramics department at M. I. T., will pour at the Monday afternoon which marks the opening of an exhibition of ceramics (the art of making things of clay, such as pottery and tiles, to you and me) at the Workshops of the Y. W. C. A.

Mrs. Robert Burr of Winchester will also pour and Miss Edith Fisher will be hostess, with Paul Perkins, Mrs. Charles R. Perkins, Mrs. Henry Kendrick, Mrs. Winslow Blanchard, Mrs. John Gibson and Rachel Whittier.

Mrs. Richard Burr of Winchester will also pour and Miss Edith Fisher will be hostess, with Paul Perkins, Mrs. Charles R. Perkins, Mrs. Henry Kendrick, Mrs. Winslow Blanchard, Mrs. John Gibson and Rachel Whittier.

They'll Do It Every Time

By TAP
THERE IS SKING! Despite the fact that Sunday Snow Trails are cancelled and the Dartmouth Carnival is snowed out, northerners report far open sled running, even for those driving up or taking regular trains.

The B. & M. Week-end Snow Trails will run as usual today from the North Station to 15 destinations.

At the WHITE MOUNTAIN VALLEY, N. H., looks like the skier's best bet for the weekend. Snow, Vermont, and the eastern slope region also send promising reports. More snow on the way.

Watan, Noreg god of weather, must have said his best. For the first time in 15 years, Hanover, N. H., is without snow for the College Carnival. But you can't stop sking. The ski jumping arena has been held on a course packed with snow carried from nearby hills, while today, downhill races will be run on Mt. Moosilauke. "Wah Wah Wah!"

TRAIL TRACKS FROM LAST WEEKEND Flying phantoms on the snow-covered trails of the White Mountains, N. H., were seen in the morning, racing through the air. The trails were packed with skiers, and the snow was carried from nearby hills. The trails were packed with skiers, and the snow was carried from nearby hills.

So great is the enthusiasm for the sport of skiing that 500 or more skiers stood in a drawing line to get to the ski area at Proctor's.

No, I'm not kidding. I got this straight from the feed box. They're gonna out the payroll in half. The shake-up starts the first of the month. They're gonna let out six in this department alone.

THE TOWN CRIER IS RUNNING AROUND PEDDLING GLOOM AGAIN. AND THIS IS THE FIRST DAY I'VE FELT LIKE SMILING SINCE MY MOTHER-IN-LAW MOVED IN ON ME.

LOOK AT POOR OLD TREMBLECHIN. HE'S SCARED HIM INTO THINKING HE'S AS GOOD AS FIRED RIGHT NOW.

HE'S BEEN SCARED IN FALSE ALARMS EVER SINCE HE'S BEEN HERE NONE OF THAT BALONEY EVER COMES TRUE.

THAT GUY MISSED HIS CALLING. HE SHOULD HAVE BEEN AN UNDETERRED.

THERE'S ONE IN EVERY OFFICE. THEY'LL DO IT EVERY TIME.

THANK TO J. C. McNEIL, BOSTON

THE TOWN CRIER IS RUNNING AROUND PEDDLING GLOOM AGAIN. AND THIS IS THE FIRST DAY I'VE FELT LIKE SMILING SINCE MY MOTHER-IN-LAW MOVED IN ON ME.

LOOK AT POOR OLD TREMBLECHIN. HE'S SCARED HIM INTO THINKING HE'S AS GOOD AS FIRED RIGHT NOW.

HE'S BEEN SCARED IN FALSE ALARMS EVER SINCE HE'S BEEN HERE NONE OF THAT BALONEY EVER COMES TRUE.

THAT GUY MISSED HIS CALLING. HE SHOULD HAVE BEEN AN UNDETERRED.

THERE'S ONE IN EVERY OFFICE. THEY'LL DO IT EVERY TIME.

THANK TO J. C. McNEIL, BOSTON

Radioland Reflections

In the Don Juan department of filmdom, a summons reached Robert Taylor to join Jack Benny on the air tomorrow night.

How much "mike" conversation will have to do with the role of American femininity in a knock, but it is rumored that the invitation was extended by Jack by way of having fun with Phil Harris, considerably on the handsome side himself.

What more the Benny-Taylor team have some talent to display since Jack boasts no little prowess as a violinist and Robert is no slouch on the piano. Hence, a symposium that has been arranged as part of the performance.

As a representative of the radio, the pair will make a special effort to make the program a success. They are expected to arrive in New York Thursday evening.

It is understood that the pair will be accompanied by a number of other radio personalities.

THE POODLE

No. 19 of Series

THE POODLE

Poodles are usually credited with being the most intelligent of dogs and the most apt to learn tricks.

They have good scent and can catch rabbits, locate game birds and retrieve from land or water.

They are very companionable. Poodles are thought of as French dogs but they probably originated in Germany centuries ago.

There are two varieties, curly coated and corded, in France it is the custom to clip the hair of the poodle in fantastic shapes. In America and England they are clipped to some extent.

Colors are white, black, brown and blue. These classes are recognized by the American Kennel Club.

Poodles, Miniature Poodles and Toy Poodles.

CONCERT COLOR

Words by three human masters and a few musical notes are the ingredients of a concert color.

U. S. Labor Is Protected by Tariff
England and Japan
Pay Extremely
Low Wages

Whether one believes in protection or in free trade, it is an undisputed fact that the protective tariff under which American industry has been built up has resulted in a price structure and wage level far above those of competing countries. If American manufacturers had not had a protective tariff wage rates could not have been increased to a point where they are from two to 12 times the wages paid in competing foreign countries.

WAGE AFRAID WIDENING
As a matter of fact it is questionable whether there would be any such thing as a protective tariff under which the wool industry had not been protected by the tariff which money permits him to enjoy. If the protective tariff, which protects that wool against the competition of low paid foreign labor, is lowered, the American worker must, in the end, accept lower wages.

As compared with the United States every competing country is a country with a lower standard of living, and with a lower standard of wages. The wool industry in the United States is the only industry in the world which has been able to maintain its standard of living and wages in the face of the competition of low paid foreign labor. The wool industry in the United States is the only industry in the world which has been able to maintain its standard of living and wages in the face of the competition of low paid foreign labor.

Wool Industry Fights Trade Treaties

Menace Seen in Reciprocal Pact With England

Any reduction in the tariff rates which might be made by reason of a Reciprocal Trade Treaty with the United Kingdom will automatically be granted to all nations on the most favored nation list. At the moment this list includes practically every country except Germany.

There may be a slight doubt concerning Italy since our treaty with that country was recently expired and there has been difficulty over its renewal but it is not believed that Italy will lose its most favored nation status. Australia has been accorded most favored nation tariff treatment beginning February 1, 1938.

It is to be noted that in the announcement of negotiations with the United Kingdom approximately 40 per cent of all items in the wool schedule were listed. With probably all nations except Germany on the most favored basis, tariff concessions to the United Kingdom on any substantial portion of these items would result in a complete rewriting of the tariff by Mr. Hull, instead of by the Congress which hitherto has always retained the sole responsibility for making changes in the tariff.

The most favored nation clause holds a special threat for the wool textile industry if any changes were to be made in the wool schedule. Reductions in the rates would have far reaching effect not only upon imports from the United Kingdom but also from such countries as Italy, Japan, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and others.

PROTECTS

The Wool Industry of America Needs
Protection!

The Wool Textile Industry as a whole has not been able to operate profitably except for brief periods since 1923. At the present time it is in a particularly unfortunate position with little current business and an almost complete lack of forward orders for future delivery. Not only are there approximately one-third of our workers who are unemployed at the present time, but many of those still on the payroll are on a part time basis.

The present duties on manufactures of wool are not providing adequate to protect American Manufacturers, as is evidenced by the rapid growth in volume of importations of blankets which, in 1936, showed a jump of more than 300% over 1935 and during 1937, a further increase of over 40% as compared with 1936.

Importations of woolen and worsted fabrics in 1936 were 35% higher than in 1935 and during 1937 nearly doubled the 1936 figure.

Changes in wage rates and other costs in this country since the present tariff rates were established in 1929 have in effect reduced the extent of tariff protection provided at that time.

Today, the average hourly wages in Great Britain are exactly the same as they were in 1929—20c an hour, while average hourly wages in this country have increased from 46c in 1930 to 89c at the present time.

To attempt to give English textile manufacturers any larger proportion of our market would substantially delay the possibility of business recovery and re-employment in the industry and would preclude any possibility of sustaining present wage rates.

General Johnson Says: TEAMWORK FLOPS Commerce Division Weak

By HUGH S. JOHNSON

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—This recent business of agreeing with ex-palms-waive, Deputy Roney Richberg is getting to be a saccharine sort of "stuck-together" habit with me, and I am not at all sure that I agree—or rather, point out that he agrees with me because I think I said it first and more frequently.

Mr. Richberg points out that, even if business were panning to co-operate with government, businessmen would have to co-operate with each other. There is no such unit as "business." Business is just a bunch of individuals. They can't co-operate with each other without being in danger of the jail-house. They can't co-operate with government both because they can't co-operate with each other and there isn't any place to co-operate in or any machinery with which to do it.

Mr. Richberg points to the remarkable co-operation of farmers with the Department of Agriculture and to the Bureau of Agricultural Economics as a place where agricultural policy can actually be planned.

This is scattering the seeds close to another bull-eye. The Department of Agriculture has to do with 3,000,000 individual farmers, and it is not at all sure how it manages to get them to do anything except to grow crops. It really represents to me, it fights for them, its voice is heard and respected at both ends of Pennsylvania Avenue.

The Department of Labor can't keep all its little charges from cheating each other, and the representation of several million workers and many unions, it is out in front.

It fights the battles of labor, it does all it can do to protect operation and union in labor, its voice is also powerful in Congress and in the Administration. There are two planning and pressure groups—and they really are groups.

Mr. Richberg points to the fact that the Department of Commerce—Oh, alas! alas! alas! it plans not, neither does it pressure business. It isn't even a good excuse, because it is just a big facade, except in the name of functions as taking the census. It neither leads nor follows.

If this department had been organized and, shows all, manned to maintain the contacts with, assume the leadership of, and champion the cause of business as a whole, it would be a very different thing. It is the business of the Department of Commerce to lead, not to follow.

Mr. Richberg points to the fact that the Department of Commerce is the only one of the four great departments which has not been reorganized since the war. It is the business of the Department of Commerce to lead, not to follow.

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY GO ROUND

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—The man who presented the unemployment problem to Roosevelt during his conference with the 31 liberal Congressmen was Mr. Jerry Voorhis, serious-minded, 35-year-old Phi Beta Kappa from California.

He, in turn, was introduced to the President by Kent Keiser, long-playing creator from Illinois, who bemoaned:

"I probably don't know Jerry Voorhis much, but I know you will hear of him. He is a very good man."

"Oh, I know Mr. Voorhis very well," Roosevelt replied with a broad grin. "I always hear of him."

The California Congressman's unemployment plan, however, did not greatly impress the President. Voorhis wanted to appoint a judge to play a role to every man who wants one, appropriating money to pay for the program regardless of cost. Business, he contended, would be eager to absorb the jobs in order to avoid the taxation necessary to finance the government program.

After Voorhis finished, having touched no responsive chord with Roosevelt, Mayor Mervyn D. Jones, who acted as general spokesman said:

"Now, Mr. President, we come to the question of relief, WPA and Mr. Woodruff."

He was referring to Representative Clinton Woodruff of Virginia, who had brought an amendment last year requiring WPA to spend no money over a 12-month period, thus making it impossible to get greater amounts during the peak of unemployment in the winter and later ask for a deficiency appropriation.

Roosevelt did not seem greatly worried about the relief situation. He remarked that the Woodruff amendment of WPA funds "more difficult to get than impossible."

PUBLIC WORKS—When the question of public works was raised, the President expressed the need of additional appropriations which would not increase the public debt, particularly mentioning the need for building schools and public works projects, he was non-committal.

At this point he took a crack at Mayor Mervyn D. Jones, who had been very busy in the past. Discussing the difficulty of public works projects, he shot this one at Mayor Jones:

"And airplanes developed more rapidly than ships."
